Introduction and childhood sections.

- In pairs (to a parent) recall the key events of Theodore Roosevelt's life, without using your planning or research sheets.

Writing the introduction and Childhood sections

- Why we are writing a biography about him?
- What was his most famous achievement?

The first paragraph should explain:

- When and where they were born (including dates).
- Information about family members.
- Where they went to school.
- Any difficulties in their childhood — any times that had to face adversity.
- Also: were there any hints in their childhood of what they would achieve in later life?
