Crete

Crete is a place apart – not just another Greek island, more like a separate country. Crete lies on the same latitude as Tunisia with the same baking hot summers; but here pleasantly tempered by breezes from the sea.

The land is infinitely varied – mountain ranges rise up to 8,000 feet, Europe's deepest gorge winds for twelve miles through rock walls at times 1,000 feet high, and countless beaches lead to a clear blue sea. Add to these high alpine meadows, well watered plains and valleys, a rich archaeology, and flora and fauna as yet largely unthreatened and you have a country worth a visit.

But the most striking aspect of this land is its people. Shaped by centuries of struggle against oppression, they are as rugged as the mountains, fiercely independent, and passionately loyal to Crete and one another. Read 'Zorba the Greek' for a marvellous evocation of the people and the place – or any other of Kazantakis' novels.

It is a good idea to hire a car and explore. You needn't go far, because the holiday trade is confined largely to the four main towns and the coast. Any working village will reward your effort – perhaps with an invitation to a celebration (there's always something to celebrate!) or just to drink raki at the coffee shop, you never know. Seek out a Minoan palace, a mountain plateau, a Byzantine monastery. Turn southwards into the high, wild hinterland for the essence of an ancient legend-haunted land.

Quite unlike any other island Crete is for travellers as well as for tourists. It is an experience not to be missed.

Our chosen areas...

North West Coast
Chania • Kalives • Almirida

Transfer time 20 mins (Chania), 45 mins (Kalives), 1 hour (Almirida)

Formerly the capital of the island, Chania is the main town in the west and has a strong Venetian flavour, particularly around its immense harbour, lined with restaurants. Behind, a maze of narrow lanes and crumbling Venetian facades conceal more restaurants, small shops and atmospheric cafés.

A half-hour drive east of Chania, neighbouring Kalives and Almirida are at the entrance to Souda Bay (the largest natural harbour in the Aegean), the White Mountains behind forming a majestic backdrop. Both enjoy fine sandy beaches and beautiful rolling countryside.

Kalives has retained its village atmosphere and boasts two long sandy beaches, one to either side. Centred around a tree-shaded square, housing a couple of cafés and the handsome church, Kalives has authentic local tavernas and small shops which cater for most needs.

Life in the burgeoning small resort of Almirida revolves around the beach and the half-dozen tavernas over the sea. The area has developed in the past few years; but this does mean that the village now has better facilities, including several café-bars, a bakery and two minimarkets. Last summer windsurfers, catamarans and sea-kayaks could be rented.

From both Almirida and Kalives bicycles can be hired, excursions operate (via Kalives), there is a bus to Chania and taxis are available – for further exploration a car is a good idea.

North Coast
Panormos

Transfer time 2 hours

20 minutes drive beyond historic Rethymnon, the atmospheric village of Panormos has everything we look for – two good sandy beaches, a photogenic harbour (with church above and tavernas to each side) and, above all, a true Greek village atmosphere. Yet, remarkably for such a pretty place, foreign tourism here is still low-key and there is only one hotel.

Panormos has some ten tavernas and a selection of small shops in the narrow streets leading down to the harbour and beach. For bright lights Rethymnon can be reached by frequent local bus. A fun trip is by the 'road-train' which starts in Panormos and runs to villages in the hills behind.

Panormos transfer note: Panormos transfers are combined with Kalives/Almirida. Private taxi transfers can be quoted for and are expected to cost c.£100 per taxi one way.

South West Coast
Paleochora • Loutro

Transfer time 90 minutes (Paleochora) to 2 hours (Loutro)

The spectacular south-west coast encapsulates the best of Crete – dizzy mountain scenery, a sparkling sea and some fine beaches. In fact a winding drive through the mountains is the only way in to Paleochora other than by sea.

There are plenty of restaurants and cafés above the sea or in the main street. In the summer evenings there is a positively cosmopolitan atmosphere, as both roads are sealed to traffic.

The main beach is of fine golden sand and stretches for nearly a kilometre – it affords superb swimming. Inland offers wonderful walking – try Agia Irini gorge as an alternative to popular Samaria.

Boats run to the foot of Samaria (and on to Loutro), to ancient Lissos, remote Elafonissi island, or simply for spotting dolphins. During high summer Paleochora can be windy. In the early season, there is the bonus of countless wild flowers up in the hills.

Unrealistically pretty and quite tiny (pop.

Paleochora

100!), you can only reach Loutro on foot or by boat – there are no roads and no cars!

Guarded by steep mountains, Loutro is set in a sheltered bay. Half-a-dozen waterfront restaurants serve an amazing variety of dishes, and there are a couple of café-bars and small shops. Canoes can be rented to explore nearby sea caves and beaches, and a small boat runs to others. Of course this is superb walking country and the hotel is happy to give further information.

Much of the time Loutro is peaceful, but it does get busy at weekends and in the high season. For a complete break in an idyllic setting, you could do no better.

Loutro transfer note: Includes 20 mins. by ferry (unescorted, tickets provided) and there will be a short wait at Chora Sfakion harbour. You will need to carry your baggage the short distance to the jetty, on/off the boat and to the hotel (1 minute).

Aeolos Apartments Almirida

■ Self Catering ■ Studios for 2 ■ Apartments for 2/3 ■ Air Conditioning
■ Swimming Pool ■ Early Booking Offer

This well-liked accommodation has glorious views, especially from its lovely swimming pool area, and peaceful country surroundings.

A little up the hill behind Almirida, it is only a 10-12 minute walk down to the beach (a little longer back which, although not excessively steep, is a steady climb so unsuited to anyone with walking difficulties).

There are five 1-bedroom apartments. They are modern with good quality fixtures and fittings. Interior decor tends towards pastel shades which, together with the marble floors, gives a light airy feel.

Each apartment comprises a small twin bedroom, a spacious living room containing a sofa-bed and a corner kitchenette (mini-oven and rings), and a tiled shower room with wc. An iron and ironing board can be provided on request.

There is also a ground floor studio, open-plan and double-bedded with a corner kitchenette and shower room with wc.

The swimming pool measures a generous 80 sq.m., has a children's section and is furnished with sunloungers and umbrellas. The Aeolos combines quiet rural surroundings and super views with good modern standards and tavernas/beach not far away.

Air-conditioning: Available if required at a local charge of 5 Euros per day.

Fly-Drive
Explore Crete at your own pace

The size, shape and dramatic scenery of Crete lend themselves perfectly to fly-drive holidays and ours are the most flexible you will find. We do not list any pre-planned itineraries. Rather, we list the resorts in which we can arrange short stays and allow you to choose your own route (we will willingly help you with this should you wish).

We use mostly small, comfortable bed and breakfast hotels, all with air-conditioning, balcony and ensuite shower/wc. Holiday prices include Group A car hire from Chania airport, unlimited mileage, all local taxes and Collision Damage Waiver insurance. Cars can be upgraded at a supplement.

We have chosen the following centres because they represent a varied cross section of all Crete has to offer, from the larger resorts and towns on the north coast to small villages in the south. By using them as a base, you can explore virtually the whole island. Do remember that Crete is very large, 180 miles long and almost a country in itself, so beware of trying to see and do too much.

Fly-Drive Centres & Pricing

North Coast:
- Heraklion
- Chania
- Rethymnon
- Elounda
- Sitia

Mountains:
- Zaros

South Coast:
- Paleochora
- Aghia Galini
- Ierapetra
- Plakias

Please ask for advice should you want help with your route, or would like to know approximate driving times.

If accommodation is not required for the whole time you can of course just book flight and car only, or simply have a few days free with the car within your itinerary. Remember that many of our holidays are designed to be combined – one week's fly-drive and one week in a resort is quite feasible. Please ask for details.

Prices vary as there are so many permutations, but a typical per person price for each of 2, including flights, car and hotels would be, depending on the season, approximately:

1 week £700-£850; 2 weeks £1000- £1250. Please enquire for exact costing.

Panormos

Idili Apartments Panormos

■ Self Catering ■ Apartments for 2/4 ■ Air Conditioning ■
■ Early Booking Offer

This beautiful old stone house has been lovingly restored to offer three spacious self-contained apartments, each combining traditional character with modern comforts.

Located on a narrow side-street, shops and restaurants are to be found within a minute or two's walk, and it's five minutes down the hill to the harbour and the sandy beach here.

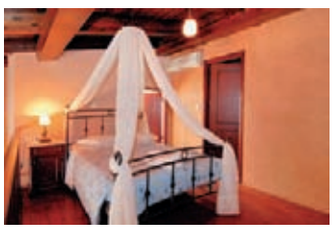

All apartments possess air-conditioning; traditional Cretan furniture and décor; one or two sofa-beds in the living room; sat tv, dvd player; telephone and ISDN line (local charge); a fitted kitchen area with mini-oven, rings and fridge; a nicely tiled shower room; and a terrace.

The two apartments on the top floor are open-plan. Each has a traditional wooden sleeping gallery above the living room with an iron double bedstead (note: watch the low beamed ceiling). One, called Jasmine, has the shower room ensuite to the sleeping gallery, and accesses a small open roof-top sun-terrace. The other (Yacinthos) has the shower room downstairs and a wide covered balcony over the garden to the front.

The lower apartment (Ayioklima), reached by steps down from the street, is all on one level and has a main bedroom/living room with a iron 4-poster double bed, a small but cool twin bedroom separate to the living room; a separate kitchen; and spacious front terrace as Yacinthos.

Kept cool by its thick stone walls, and beautifully furnished, we think Idili is top quality accommodation, and makes a wonderful base from which to make the most of this prettiest of Cretan villages. Further details on this property can be viewed on their website www.idili.gr. Due to a combination of location, steps and stairs, we would not recommend Idili to anyone with walking difficulties.

Air-conditioning: Available at a local charge of 5 euros per day.

Note: Our allocated apartments are Yacinthos and Ayioklima, although we cannot confirm by name. Jasmine is 'on request' only and may be a different price.

Doma Hotel (right hand side)

Chania

Doma Hotel Chania

■ Traditional Hotel (First Class) ■ Bed & Breakfast ■ Air Conditioning

This most civilised hotel combines comfort with an old-world elegance and has been featured several times in 'The Good Hotel Guide'. It used to be the British Consulate, and stands across the road from the sea 1 km from the centre of town and a 10-15 minute walk from the harbour. A five minute walk brings you to a safe sandy beach.

Personally run by Mrs Irene Valiraki, whose passion for Cretan antiques is evident everywhere, the hotel has 20 rooms and 4 suites, all with air-conditioning, ceiling fan, safety deposit box and shower/wc, some with tv and balcony. Those at the front have good sea views but are above a busy road; those at the back overlook the small garden – most rear rooms have a balcony. The hotel has three first floor suites, comprising a twin or double bedroom, front living room with fridge and TV (one or two extra beds here), and bathroom with bath or shower and wc. There is also a Penthouse Suite which has the entire roof-terrace to itself.

On the third floor and served by a lift is a beautifully decorated breakfast room, and occasional restaurant – private dining can be booked here – with wonderful views over the sea to the harbour. To the rear of the hotel there is a small 'secret' garden littered with pieces of pottery and sculpture.

Note: Our rooms, unless otherwise requested, will be to the rear of the hotel with balcony and garden view.

Casa Veneta is, as the name implies, an old Venetian house. It has been renovated to a good standard. In the Old Town on a narrow street (a culdesac but there may be limited traffic) it is only a minute's walk from Chania's famous harbour-front.

The apartments are open-plan and on three levels linked by wooden stairs, with the kitchenette below, a living area in the middle (one or two sofa-beds here) and a twin-bedded sleeping gallery above. Unlike the studios, the apartments have a small balcony over the street, most with a view of the sea to the side (parents please note, the balcony railings are quite widely spaced and may be unsuitable for small children). All possess tv and air-conditioning for which a small charge is made. Furnishings are of good quality and there is a ground floor reception and small lounge.

A friendly, most charming base in an excellent location from which to explore this historic and atmospheric town.

Porto Loutro I

Loutro

Porto Loutro Hotel Loutro

All possess air-conditioning (which can also provide heating for early season), fridge, telephone, room safe, ensuite shower/wc and a balcony with sea views to the front or side. There is a small bar on the first floor where you can take breakfast or enjoy a drink overlooking the sea.

On the ground floor are four spacious studios. They are mostly double-bedded and possess a kitchenette with cooking rings and fridge, a shower/wc, and a small living area to the front containing a sofa-bed. As with the hotel, the studios are furnished in an attractive local style. They share a large common sunterrace just above the beach. A fifth studio is slightly behind and of a similar description

Porto Loutro II is a three minute walk away above the corner of the bay. There are 18 rooms here too, on the middle and top floors. All are large and well-furnished, each possessing a shower/wc and a balcony or terrace with lovely views over the bay. There is a covered ground floor bar/patisserie and sun-terrace, again with stunning views.

Please note that the hotel will not accommodate children under 7 years. The hotel will change Traveller's Cheques but does not accept credit cards, although some restaurants and shops in Loutro now do. There is an ATM in Chora Sfakion a short ferry-hop away.

Walks around Loutro

This useful book will be available locally in Loutro for around 7 euros.

The authors, Keith Linton and Danny Staples, describe it as 'a guide to ten thyme-scented walks on ancient limestone paths: graded from an easy evening stroll to a whole day adventure'.

The book is 44 pages and includes maps and photographs.

We have a selection of additional properties on Crete available. Please see our website for details. Including:

Villa Kynthia, Panormos (B/B). .
This former mansion is over a century old and has been beautifully restored as an upmarket boutique guesthouse. It has only five suites and rooms, built around a walled courtyard garden also housing a small swimming pool. Bursting with character, this is a very special place in which to stay.

Porto Veneziano Hotel, Chania Town (3 Stars, B/B).
Directly on the waterfront towards the far (quieter) end of Chania's beautiful Venetian harbour, this understandably popular hotel offers modern comforts in an unbeatable location.

Creta Elena, Chania Town (S/C).
In a residential area of Chania, yet only a 15-20 minute walk from the harbour, these modern studios and apartments would suit those wanting a comfortable stay away from the bustle of the centre.

Istron Bay Hotel, Istron
(5 Stars, Half Board).
Halfway around the scenically stunning Bay of Mirabello on Crete's north-east coastline, this well-established hotel stands above its own beach. Although now showing its age in places, the views, friendly atmosphere and fabulous location are just three reasons why many guests return. There's a range of activities on offer, from diving to botanical walks. It's also a great location from which to explore the entire eastern side of the island.

Istron Villas, Istron (SC).
Nine modern villas, boasting all mod cons and each with a pool, terraced up the hillside above the beach. Guests can combine the freedom of a villa holiday with the benefits of a hotel, as the facilities of the Istron Bay Hotel next door can be used by those staying here.
